Prominent Sub-Treasury Officer in Philadelphia Violated Law and is Promptly Disciplined.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Roosevelt today removed from office William S. Leib, assisting United States Treasurer at Philadelphia, for "constant and persistent violation of the civil service law while in office." In a formal statement issued at the White House today by President Roosevelt, Mr. Leib's removal is announced. The President gave Mr. Leib a hearing last Friday, at the request of Senators Penrose and Knox of Pennsylvania. Mr. Leib submitted a long statement in answer to the charges made against him, and was supported in his defense by Representative Patterson of Pennsylvania.

EVADES THE LAW.

President Roosevelt's statement, which is in the form of a letter to Mr. Leib, is as follows:

"White House, Washington, Nov. 27, 1905.

"Sir: I have carefully considered the papers in your case and the statements made by you in your own behalf, and by Mr. Cooley on behalf of the Civil Service Commission. It appears to me very clear that there has been a constant and consistent effort on your part to evade the provisions of the civil service law, to hamper its workings as far as possible, and to obstruct in every way the action of the commission.

"I expect, on the other hand, that the commission shall endeavor not to hamper but to aid the other public servants of the Government in doing their work successfully, and on the other hand, I expect in return that the other public servants shall co-operate with the commission, and aid them in their efforts to carry out the civil service law."

In your case it seems to me clearly established that you have sought continually to take advantage of every kind of technicality in order to avoid carrying out the law in good faith.

Nine People Are Killed and Property is Damaged.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 27.—A special to the News from Emporium, Pa., says:

The Keystone Powder Company's mixing-house and one packing-house blew up today, killing nine persons.

The town was badly shaken, but there was no damage to town property. The Keystone works were completely destroyed.

The President here quoted a letter sent by Secretary Shaw to Mr. Leib, calling attention to irregularities, and then concludes his own letter as follows:

Death of an Eccentric Old Woman Reveals a Ghastly Secret in Her Home.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—The death of Mrs. Liora Thompson, an aged and eccentric woman, has revealed a ghastly secret in her little cottage on Boyle Heights. In a storeroom of the cottage, covered with rubbish, was found a hermetically sealed box containing the corpse of her daughter who died twenty-seven years ago. The box is but three feet long and the body of the young woman had been dismembered. The following inscription was engraved on a silver plate and nailed on the box:

"Liora L. Thompson, died December 16, 1877. Aged 27 years, 2 months, 1 day."

The box was opened by an undertaker and a disinterment certificate, signed F. R. Bouteil, undertaker, Amherst, Mass., Nov. 7, 1881, found. The body had been disinterred for shipment to Lodi, Cal., but was brought to Los Angeles by Mrs. Thompson when she settled here twenty years ago and had been kept in her cottage, where she lived all alone.

Letter Sent to Minister Tells Story of How a Girl Was Plied With Liquor While Seller Boasted of His Protection by Officials

I hold a letter in my hand from a father and mother which tells of their daughter, who was enticed into a back room of one of our saloons, plied with liquor until 12:30 a. m., and then taken to one of our private room restaurants which was kept open and selling liquor after midnight, in defiance of the law, and the proprietor of the place boasting that he was granted police immunity—

GRAFT SALOONS DIVORCE

Sensational statements were made by Rev. E. R. Dille, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city, in his sermon delivered yesterday to his congregation on "Christian Optimism."

During the course of his remarks, he arraigned the conduct of persons in society; pointed his finger at remarkable revelations made in the insurance investigation; referred to the condition of affairs in San Francisco and other cities, where, he said, graft has reigned supreme; and, finally, as a climax to his address, declared that he had a letter from a father and mother, living in Oakland, telling how their daughter had been plied with liquor in a back room of a saloon, and then taken to a private room of a restaurant after the midnight hour, and given more intoxicants in spite of the law, and the letter from the parents, declared Dr. Dille, said that the proprietor of the place openly boasted that he was accorded protection by the police.

Rev. Dr. Dille said, in part: "All things work together for good to them that love God. I can only be a true optimist when I am a Christian. Apart from the intervention of God in human affairs this world is as dry of consolation as the breast of the Sphinx. If from this world only, without moral force or fulcrum, we have hope we are all most miserable. Between font and funeral, between cradle and coffin there is so much that tasks and tortures the soul that we cannot accept the sleek, complacent optimism which says that this is the best, possible world apart from redemption. The human race has no upward trend save as it is led by the Man of Calvary. The progress of man left to himself is a quicksand progress, each struggle a worse entanglement. 'Oh, my soul, wait thou only upon God, for thy expectation is from Him.'

WHAT IT PROMISES.

"This promise that all things work together for good is God's pledge to all reformers, patriots, Christian workers, who love their fellows and look for the golden age. It means that right shall triumph over wrong, that truth is stronger than falsehood, and that all faithful work is immortal. It means the eternal step of progress beats, to that great anthem grand and slow which God repeats."

"Who was the philosopher who said 'give me a place to stand on and I will move the world?' These heroes to whom this word came found a place to stand—by the side of God—and from that point of vantage they did move the world. The ground of Christian optimism then is God. When Paul described certain men as 'having no hope and without God in the world, he uttered a very logical phrase, for the godless man is always the hopeless man. Either we are the sport of events, circumstances, fate, or else the world is our Father's house and standeth God within the shadows, keeping watch above his own.'

"But great, as was the need of the apostles, martyrs, reformers of the past to believe that right should be finally triumphant, our need today is no less great.

GREED OF GAIN.

"Look at the tendency today to pluck all value, reckon all progress, compute all gains in terms of dollars and cents."

"Look at the greed of gain which has grown into such a passion commanding and absorbing, that it says

MRS. ROGERS MUST DIE ON GALLOWS

United States Supreme Court Takes Away Last Hope of Condemned Woman.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Supreme Court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the United States District Court of Vermont in the case of Mrs. Mabel Rogers, who is under sentence of death in Vermont for the murder of her husband.

DATE OF HANGING.

The court's decision will again place the responsibility in the hands of the State authorities and if no action is taken neither the governor nor the State courts take action in Mrs. Rogers' behalf, her execution must occur on the day set, December 22.

The court held, in effect, that it was without jurisdiction in all the points raised.

SEX DOES NOT COUNT.

In his opinion, Justice Day laid no stress upon the sex of Mrs. Rogers, but dealt with the case upon purely legal grounds. Reciting the proceedings in the case he took up the various contentions made in the woman's behalf, how each in turn proved to be ineffective. On the point that Mrs. Rogers has been held in solitary confinement for more than three months, he said the record does not show that she is so held, though admittedly held in close confinement.

This course was, he said, within the rights of the State and could not be used as grounds for interference by the Federal courts. He also said that the State Supreme Court could not be required to fix a time for execution, that whether the State Supreme Court should sit in Bennington county is a matter of State practice only and also that there is no merit in the contention that fixing a date for execution when granting a reprieve is a violation of the Federal statutes.

The opinion in the case concludes with an order that mandate issue at once. This will obviate the raising of the question of possible postponement of the day of execution.

MURDERED HER HUSBAND.

The case came to the Supreme Court on appeal from the refusal of the United States District Court of Vermont to grant Mrs. Rogers a writ of habeas corpus after the Supreme Court of the State had refused her a new trial.

The charge against Mrs. Rogers is that of murdering her husband by administering chloroform at Bennington, Vt., in 1903. She was tried in December 1903, and her trial resulted in a sentence of death by hanging.

The case has attracted much attention on account of the defendant's sex and because of the many narrow escapes she has had from paying the extreme penalty for her crime.

FIRST DAY FIXED.

Her execution was first fixed for February 3, 1905, but the governor of the State granted a reprieve on February 1 until June 2. When it seemed that she must inevitably hang on the day fixed, the governor again on June 1 came to the woman's rescue, moving the date up to June 23.

The last reprieve was granted June 22 to permit an investigation by the Federal courts.

Mrs. Rogers is now confined in the Vermont State prison.

DEMANDS OF MUTINEERS TO BE GRANTED

Situation in Sebastopol is Much Improved This Afternoon—Trouble About Ended.

SESTOBOL, Nov. 27, 1:50 p. m.—The situation at Sebastopol is reported to be improved, the Brest regiment, which went over in a body to the mutineers, having returned to its allegiance and joined the Brest regiment. Reinforcements have also arrived at Sebastopol from Simferopol, marching from Inkerman, between which place and Sebastopol the railroad has been torn up.

Guns command all the entrances to the city from Admiralty Point, where the mutineers are quartered, and the sailors are virtually prisoners there. The battleship Pantelimon, formerly the Klar, Potemkin, and the cruiser Otschakoff are in the bay and in control of the mutineers, who have placed their officers under arrest. The remaining ships of the Black Sea fleet are off the southern roadstead. Their crews have not joined in the mutiny but it is hardly believed they could be induced to fire on their comrades ashore.

Reinforcements are also on the way to Sebastopol from Odessa and Pavlograd.

It is rumored here that Vice-Admiral Choukhan is parleying with the mutineers, offering to accede to all their demands relative to the improvement of the service conditions. This is not officially confirmed, but a despatch from the American Consul at Sebastopol, which reports the outlook much less threatening, says it is reported that Admiral Choukhan has received orders from St. Petersburg to yield everything. The British Consul is chartering a vessel to take off the subjects of Great Britain.

CONSIDERABLE SNOW ON COAST RANGES

SAN JOSE, Nov. 27.—This morning there was displayed considerable snow on the Loma Prieta and the Coast ranges and the snow on Mount Hamilton extends down to the Santa Lucia Hotel in Smith Creek Valley for the first time in eight years. Up to seven o'clock this morning the railroad at San Jose was 67 inches, for the season, and 1.08 for the season, as against 4.22 last year. While in the mountains on either side of the range the precipitation was from 1 to 3 inches, according to locality.

Frank Sachs Gets Fearful Shock at the Top of a High Pole in Alameda.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 27.—Frank Sachs, a lineman in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone Company, met with an accident this afternoon while working high in the air on a telephone pole at the corner of Walnut street and Central avenue. The full force of 2,000 volts of electric light power was forced through his body as the result of one of the city wires being crossed.

Sachs fell to the earth, where he lay unconscious in a pool of blood until assistance reached him, when he was removed to the Alameda Sanitorium, and attended by physicians. The fast reports were that his condition will in all probability prove fatal.

YEAR'S PRODUCTS, MURRAY TOWNSHIP

Interesting and Important Facts Shown by S. N. Wyckoff's Report to the Supervisors.

S. N. Wyckoff today completed and filed with the Board of Supervisors his report of the agricultural and horticultural value of the townships of Murray, Pleasanton, Eden and Washington, which was based on the canvass made under his direction on authority of the Supervisors. He also reported that the cost of making the enumeration of the products and manufactures of the county was $708.51.

The showing is an interesting one. The valuation of each of these townships was set forth as follows:

Eden ..... $1,456,070

Murray ..... 1,157,587

Washington ..... 1,158,324

Pleasanton ..... 992,068

Total ..... $4,644,535

The value of the wine produced in the county this year is $20,000.

Mr. Wyckoff's report of the value of the products of Murray Township is appended. Those of the townships of Pleasanton, Eden and Washington will appear in successive days in the TRIBUNE, the report of Eden appearing tomorrow.

HOUSE FALLS ON WORKMAN

Edward Furlong Pinned Beneath Building; Back Broken.

The accident took place shortly after 2 o'clock, while he was engaged in repair work for the company at the top of one of the high poles. One of the city wires was crossed with the guy-wire on the pole, and the lineman placed his hand on the latter to steady himself, and instantly received the full force of the death-dealing current. He was taken to the Alameda Sanitorium, where he was attended by Dr. H. M. Pond and Dr. E. P. Reynolds.

The physicians give very little hope for his recovery. Sachs is twenty-eight years of age and unmarried, and lives in Oakland.

MUST REFORM FOOTBALL SAYS U. OF C. PRESIDENT

Wheeler Declares Brutality Must be Abolished or Game Must Go.

WITH A RECORD NEARING THE COMPLEMENT OF THE FINAL THANKSGIVING DAY GAMES, KICK OFF RECORD OF KILLED AND MAIMED STANDS THIS SEASON TWICE AS GREAT AS THE AVERAGE OF THE LAST FIVE YEARS. EIGHTEEN DEATHS SO FAR HAVE BEEN REPORTED FROM THIS COLLEGE SPORT AND FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY ONE IS A WOMAN. THE LIST OF INJURED—SERIOUSLY INJURED—TOTALS 137.

EDWARD FURLONG, of 617 Magnolia street, was pinned under the house by the falling of the building and his back is believed to be broken. He was held by the great weight until people gathered, the latter could not break through the glass and raised sufficiently to enable him to be removed. He has lost all sense of feeling from the waist and the doctors cannot yet determine definitely just how grave his this season, and 135 extraordinary accidents. The deaths are more than double the average for the last five years, during which time there have been 45 deaths.

All of these facts were discussed by President Wheeler informally today as he went over his statement regarding football made last Friday. He declared his belief that the game of football must be almost entirely made over or be abolished.

He believes that a few more descriptive rules are not sufficient. Radical action is necessary, although President Wheeler does not consider himself confident to say what can be done or what should be done to the rules to make the game satisfactory from every point of view. He leaves that to the rules committee, composed of experts, who not only know the game, but who understand the sentiment which now demands such revision as will make the football game something less dangerous than a railroad accident.

President Wheeler last Friday declared his belief that the game of football, while rough, and not at all "homelike," is a great game which should not be lost to American youths in college. President Wheeler advocated a change in the rules of the game which would make it a more open game, so doing away with much of the objections that is made to mass players in which some serious injuries to football players take place.

President Wheeler stated today his belief that unless the game is remedied thoroughly it must be abolished. He reiterated his declaration that the failure of the National Rules Committee to make changes in the rules which would reform the game last year is largely responsible for the criticism that is now heard all over the land, because of the many extraordinary accidents and deaths on the gridiron.

President Wheeler has been informed that an appeal has been sent out by Chancellor McCracken of Union College, New York, to other University Presidents for a special meeting of college officials to discuss an act upon football. The New York man's action was taken after a Union College man named Moore was killed in a football game a few days ago. Chancellor McCracken's statement is that there have been eighteen deaths on the gridiron.

After his plea of not guilty had been entered the question of settling the date of trial was discussed and it was found that the first day free would be January 4, 1906, and it was set for this date.

PERSONALITIES.

In the recently published life of Lord Gladstone, the wife of Mr. Gladstone, Mrs. Gladstone, with her son, Mr. and Lord and Lady Sydne, whose guest he was at Deal, because— you would not guess it in a thousand—because there was a rain that afternoon and Mr. Gladstone was unable to go to the beach.

Indeed, we all went after him.

He was only on assuring him that the opposition papers would make a great noise about him if he did not go to the beach, and he did his best to console himself by strolling into every booth, from the giant woman to the girl with the ages very possible, and he was honored by the premier's visit, who seemed to enjoy himself more than the schoolboys to whom their dons showed off.

After his plea of not guilty had been entered the question of settling the date of trial was discussed and it was found that the first day free would be January 4, 1906, and it was set for this date.

PROSECUTION CLOSES CASE IN PEMBROKE TRIAL

Confession Made by Accused is Put in Evidence at Today's Hearing.

INTEREST IS UNHABIT IN THE TRIAL OF CHANCE. He describes the route taken by him after he left the other two and went to the house of John Cook before he did. He also denies having got any of the money.

SCHNEIDER'S TESTIMONY says that he ran away and left Pembroke. He also denies having been given $100 by Blaker the next morning and was also told by Blaker where the money had been hidden in the Blaker cellar and where he had left it. Blaker also denied having been given $100 by Frank Barnet and pointed out the place where a considerable amount of the money was buried.

Sheriff Frank Barnet, when he took the stand, testified to the fact that he had been to the home of Blaker and also to the finding of the blunderbuss used by the boys and other incriminating evidence.

With the close of the evidence given by the District Attorney Allen announced the close of the case for the people and an adjournment was taken until this afternoon, when Attorney for the defense will begin his stand.

Sheriff Frank Barnet, when he took the stand, testified to the fact that he had been to the home of Blaker and also to the finding of the blunderbuss used by the boys and other incriminating evidence.

Supervisor Rowe Makes a Fling at Assessor Dalton--Routine
Work of Board.

At the meeting of the Supervisors this morning, a resolution was adopted refusing to grant licenses to saloons along the line of the Western Pacific Railroad now in course of construction in this county as follows:

"Whereas, Certain work of railway construction is being done throughout this county; and

"Whereas, Application for liquor licenses may be presented to this board for saloons along the line of said construction work, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this board will grant no new liquor licenses for saloons of any character on the line of said railroads while the same are in course of construction."

The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Horner and was adopted by the unanimous vote of the Supervisors.

REPAIRING TRESTLE.

A resolution was adopted empowering Supervisor Rowe to repair the trestle on Oakland avenue near Pleasant Valley.

Health Officer Chalmers reported that he had quarantined two cases of diphtheria during October. Filed.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

District Attorney Allen was given leave of absence for thirty days with permission to leave the State.

ASSESSMENT CORRECTIONS.

Corrections of clerical errors were made in the assessment of property owned by the Evergreen Cemetery Association; Peter Wallin, lot 9, block F; Fruitvale Terminal tract; Johanna Donovan, Lena S. Bishop, Pauline Bliger, lots 9 and 10, block B; Clinton, and George H. Derrick.

The corrections were made at the request of Assessor Dalton, whose name was signed to the same by Deputy Assessor Robinson, who was present.

ROWES' REFERENCE TO DALTON.

"Do you certify to the correctness of these statements?" asked Supervisor Rowe of Mr. Robinson.

"He has certified to them," said County Clerk Cook.

"I heard another name read. But I want to know if you know of the correctness of the statements yourself," said Supervisor Rowe, addressing Mr. Robinson.

The latter replied in the affirmative. The name to which Supervisor Rowe referred was that of Assessor Dalton. "I would not," he continued, "believe him under oath. I would not believe him under oath, the hound."

The corrections requested were ordered made.

George W. Perkins Explains Payment to Take up Loans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—In explaining the testimony of last Friday, when the statement was made by a witness that $56,720 was paid to Andrew Hamilton, "the legislative insurance generalissimo," by J. P. Morgan & Co., George W. Perkins testified before the Insurance Investigating Committee today that in 1903 J. P. Morgan & Co. paid $57,720 to the Central National Bank and the New York Security and Trust Company.

This payment was made, he said, upon the request of President McCall of the New York Life to take up loans to Edward E. McCall and Andrew Hamilton, which those institutions had made at the request of President McCall.

Edward E. McCall is a Justice of the New York Supreme Court and a brother of President McCall, of the New York Life Insurance Company.

"Board of Supervisors, County of Alameda, Oakland Cal. Gentlemen: We are in receipt of your demand for the repayment into the Treasury of Alameda county of the sum of $51.98 for alleged overcharge for printing election proclamation during the year 1904. As you do not name any reasons why we should refund this money, or any explanation as to how overcharge was made, we cannot intelligently answer your communication.

"The bill for publishing the election proclamation was made out in due form and charge was made according to the rates fixed by your Board, and the proclamation was measured according to the space used. The set-up was in exact compliance with your instructions, and when the bill was turned in to you it was approved and paid. If there had been anything the matter with the bill it should have been properly called to our attention at the time. Still, if there has been any error or mistake on our part we will be willing to rectify it even at this late date.

"Please advise us fully in the premises and if we have made an overcharge of the small amount mentioned, we will be more than pleased to return it. Yours etc.

DR. POND HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Dr. H. M. Pond of Alameda had a narrow escape from death Sunday afternoon while riding along Telegraph avenue. The doctor had been racing along with car No. 244, and when he reached Eighteenth street he attempted to cross the track in front of the car, but the car, which was going at a high rate of speed, caught the machine and slid along in front until Sixteenth street was reached, when the car was stopped. The front working gear was smashed, but aside from that no further damage was done.

Dr. Pond states that the car people were not to blame for the accident. The motorman in charge of the car was George Jackson and the conductor was L. Herrington.

PROVES A FAILURE AS WILLIAM TELL

Joseph Roach, an 18-year-old boy residing at 1644 Atlantic street, who is ambitious of becoming a marksman, was practicing Saturday afternoon in his barn, using C. Croft, boy friend, as his subject and victim. Croft held cigars in his mouth, matches in his hand and placed apples on his head, all of which were shot away by Roach at a distance of twenty-five feet. He then tried to shoot a dime out of his friend's hand, but failed, and as a result Croft was compelled to go to the Receiving Hospital to have his thumb dressed.

DODGING THE JAPANESE.

Here is a tale of adventurous blockades running during the Russo-Japanese war. In December of last year the steamer Carlisle, Captain J. J. Jessen, 1865 tons, belonging to Leith, Scotland, left Vladivostok with arms and ammunition worth over $4,500,000 on board, destined for Port Arthur, where it was to be loaded with coal. The steamer had not reached that port when it was overtaken by the Japanese, but not before many shots had been exchanged. An American warship, ultimately arrived on the scene and towed the Carlisle to the harbor of Amakusa, where it was interned by the American authorities. At Manila the Carlisle was provided with a new propeller, but watched by the Japanese, who, it is said, reported to the Japanese cruiser which kept continually appearing in the offing. The Carlisle one night disappeared from Manila at the time of the passing of the Japanese, by Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet.

ACCUSES OAKLAND POLICE

people up town graft and steal under the forms of law in larger amounts and on a grander scale.

STONE IS TURNED.

"God is overruling these late exposures of wickedness in high places. It is not the first time that it required a big crime to bring about a reaction and revolution. A small act of fraud is, of course, of the same detectable quality as a big one, but we are so constituted as not to appreciate the exceedingly sinfulness of sin until we see it in the lump and in flagrant form.

I have turned over a stone in the meadow and watched the slimy, crawling things scurry for cover, for they cannot bear the light. Well the stone has been turned over lately, and how many bloated vermin are hunting cover—and that is a good thing.

MORAL RIGHTS.

"Thank God, the result of these investigations has been to prove that moral indignation is not a lost art among us. The great heart of the people is right, after all the public conscience is not wholly debauched. We may not know what individual to trust; but we can trust the American people. Moral indignation among us is not easily aroused; we are too good-natured, too much given to a lazy, laissez faire, attitude toward evil; but when the public conscience is aroused it is an avalanche that sweeps everything before it.

NO MORE SALOONS.

"The time is to come when, as David Starr Jordan says, our cities will no more allow open saloons on their streets than they will allow an open cesspool or pesthouse there.

"The time will come when a man who only puts formaldehyde in the milk the babies drink will be considered an innocent man beside the man who sells liquors to boys and girls and to men and women.

ACCUSES POLICE.

"I hold a letter in my hand from a father and mother, telling of their daughter, a young girl, who was enticed into the back room of one of our saloons, piled with liquor till 12:30 a. m., and then taken to one of our private room restaurants, which was keeping open and selling liquor after midnight in defiance of law, and the proprietor of the latter place boasted that he was granted police immunity.

"The time is to come when the forces of righteousness shall be so mighty in this land that they will take hold of our cities and shake all the rascals out of the places of power. May God increase the tribe of Roosevelts, of Folks and Jeromes, and Weavers.

Boy Discovers U. S. Officers Killed in Struggle With Angry Prisoners.

VALDIVOSTOK, Nov. 27.—Yesterday afternoon Frank Castro, a boy, found a United States mail bag beside the Benicia road about a mile from here. He took it to the postoffice, where it was found to contain what was left of the registered mail stolen on the morning of November 2 from the postoffice by burglars.

"All the jewelry, coins, some melted gold directed to a dentist here and greenbacks in the registered enclosures were gone."

Several pay checks addressed to sailors on ships, the postmaster's private papers and money orders were found in the bag. Every registered letter and package had been opened.

The total value of the registered matter stolen was $10. The bag was in view of passers-by on the road.

WOMAN GUIDE IN ATHENS.

(From the Philadelphia Telegraph) There is an Athens young American girl, Miss Florence Stone, who makes a good living as a professional guide. Some time ago, while traveling in Europe with her mother, Miss Stone received word that her fortune had suddenly been lost. Happening to be in Athens she determined to remain there and do what she could toward their support. She tried teaching English for a while, but was not particularly successful in getting pupils. Then, at the suggestion of a prominent American woman whom she had accompanied on one or two sight-seeing expeditions she offered her services to parties of Americans as a professional guide and has made a success of it. With education and culture as well as a perfect knowledge of modern Greek, she is better able to impart interesting historical information than the ordinary foreign guide.

WOMAN PUT ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Bessie Vencelau Shows Suffering She Has Endured Since Her Crime.

It was a face showing the effects of worry that greeted the court and jurors this morning when Mrs. Bessie Vencelau was put on trial for the murder of her husband on the afternoon of September 18, at their home at 755 Jefferson street.

In every appearance she has made in court she has worn an impenetrable veil but when she took her seat beside Attorney A. L. Frick this morning to face the jury that will listen to the evidence in the case against her the veil was lifted.

She is a woman tall and well proportioned, and her picture taken by the police photographer would not be recognized as representing the woman now on trial for her life. She is apparently about thirty-five years of age, and falls into an attitude that gives one the impression that she has suffered greatly since the commission of the act which took from her the man whom she had promised to love, honor and obey.

There is to be no denial of the fact that she fired the shot that killed her husband—this statement Attorney A. L. Frick made this morning for the benefit of the jurors as they came in turn to be examined by him as to their fitness to sit in trial upon the case. The point that will be given to the jury to decide is, did she do it in self defense? No one was present at the time of the tragedy, but the witness and the man now dead. Unlike most dead men, however, he has left his story behind him. Death did not come so quickly but that he was able to make a dying statement in which he accused her of killing him maliciously. The hardest part for the prosecution will be to give the jury sufficient evidence in corroboration of his statement to exclude all doubt in the minds of the jurors as to the innocence of the defendant.

This point is dwelt upon by Attorney Frick in the examination of the jurors and in explaining just what he meant in this regard he said to a juror:

We carry a complete line of imported and domestic Champagnes, and would be pleased to furnish special quotations on application.

"In the trial of civil cases the preponderance of evidence on one side or the other is sufficient to carry a verdict with it, but in criminal cases somewhat more is required than this. In order to bring in a verdict of guilty against the defendant the preponderance of evidence must not only be against her, but it goes further and must exclude from your mind all reasonable doubt as to her guilt. If you found from the evidence that in all probability this defendant did shoot her husband as charged, but that the evidence in the case is such as to leave this question in doubt in your mind you would, I suppose, be willing to bring in a verdict of not guilty?"

This seems to be pretty well the position of the defense in the case. Judge Frick will rely upon the weakness of the case of the prosecution to show conclusively the guilt of the defendant. The question of doubt as to whether the shot was justified is one he believes cannot be erased from the minds of the jurors with the evidence in the hands of the prosecution.

Deputy District Attorney Everett Brown is representing the people as District Attorney Allen is engaged in the trial of Percy Pembroke, in another department. He is aiming his questions at the jurors with a view to finding out whether they have any scruples against finding a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against a woman even though it might result in the infliction of the death penalty. He is also sounding them as to whether the fact that it being a woman on trial would sway their sympathy and show itself in the South Pole.

It is expected that most of the day will be consumed in the selection of twelve men to weigh the evidence in the case.

The following jurors had been selected to try the case up to the time of going to press: G. L. Broadwater, J. L. Harris, John C. Phillips, E. D. Gray, C. L. McCoy and John E. Holmes.

This good fortune has fallen to L. E. Mullaly, who has been promoted to the position of commissary in charge of the fleet of steamers at the port of San Francisco headquarters will be at San Francisco.

The promotion is a recognition of conscientious and capable work and a studious attention to details of the business and to the interests of his employers. Mr. Mullaly's preference gives pleasure to many friends, and to all with whom he came in contact in conducting the business of his position.

The appointment has been made as a consequence of the re-opening of the commissary at New Orleans, which was temporarily interfered with by the recent prevalence there of yellow fever. This re-opening has caused the transfer to the place of C. H. Madden, commissary at Los Angeles. C. M. McCabe, who was commissary here, has been transferred to Los Angeles and Mr. Mullaly climbs to the position as commissary in charge of the steamers of the Southern Pacific Company.

MARCUS HALL DIES.

Marcus P. Hall, of this city, died yesterday at the Fabiola Hospital, aged 53. He leaves a widow, Laura D. Hall, and two daughters, Mamie P. Hall, Mrs. Alphonse Clement, and the all arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

SET FOR HEARING.

The preliminary examination of R. L. Daniel, who is accused of attempting to eat the brains of J. J. Kerr out with a chair, was set for this morning for November 29, by Police Judge Smith. Daniel is alleged to have made an unprovoked assault on Kerr.

BUNGALOW ON FIRE

ALAMEDA, Nov. 27.—What threatened to be a disastrous fire burned at an early hour this morning, the handsome bungalow at 1437 Peru street, owned by Mrs. Adolph Schroeder, and occupied by Ralph Kirkham Blair.

A telephone alarm was sent to the firehouse of Sherman Hose Company No. 3 at 7:30 o'clock, and the firemen promptly responded. The fire was caused by a defective fireplace, the fire igniting the woodwork and creeping up the casing to the roof. By the use of the two fire extinguishers carried by the Sherman Hose Company the fire was subdued, and the damage will not exceed $100, covered by insurance on both the house and furniture.

RAIN FALLS IN NORTH AND HUNTER THE SOUTH

Entire Coast is Given a Wetting—Snow Falls in the Mountains.

The rainfall in Oakland during the last twenty-four hours was .63 of an inch, making a total of .88 for the season, as compared with 9.94 inches last year for a corresponding period.

IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The first rain and snowstorm of the season prevailed last night over the entire Pacific slope, including Arizona and Nevada. Chief McAdie, of the Weather Bureau, says that as the rain was unaccompanied by wind, it will do the greatest possible amount of good. Sufficient snow fell in the mountains to satisfy the miners, and there may be complaints of too much in Arizona, as at Flagstaff 2.24 inches of melted snow was recorded. The rainfall at Yuma was one inch and sixteen hundredths. Only thirty-four hundredths of an inch of rain fell in San Francisco, but there was a much heavier precipitation in the surrounding sections of the State.

IN THE NORTH.

RED BLUFF, Nov. 27.—The first general rain for this season fell last night and the weather bureau shows the precipitation to be forty-five hundredths of an inch. This was followed this morning by a heavy frost. Stockmen and farmers were pleased, but the dry season has extended so late that it is feared that feed on the mountain ranges will be very short, and the prevailing cold weather may make the winter-sown grain crop a failure.

HAILSTORM IN SOUTH.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Nov. 27.—The small coasting steamer Ferridot of Glasgow was totally wrecked on the Island of Mage. The crew was lost. Seven bodies have been washed up.

The provinces report great damage by the gale. The Red Star line steamer Kroonland and the Hamburg-American line steamer Patricia, bound for New York, embarked their passengers at Dover this morning, after which they continued their voyage interrupted by the storm.

STORM IN LONDON.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Great aggregate damage was done to the coast towns by last night's storm. Many small vessels were driven ashore.

The small coasting steamer Ferridot of Glasgow was totally wrecked on the Island of Mage. The crew was lost. Seven bodies have been washed up.

Pianola Piano

Playable either from the key board or by means of the Pianola music roll.

The many high grade pianos which we are continually taking in exchange for Pianola Pianos, shows the great demand for this new type of musical instrument—The first complete piano."

We are daily in receipt of letters and personal inquiries from people with pianos asking if their instruments will be taken in exchange on the purchase of a Pianola Piano. This announcement answers these questions—

We will gladly accept any upright, grand or square piano as partial payment on a Piano. No matter how valuable the piano is, it will be taken at a fair valuation.

An interesting detail in the introduction of the Pianola Piano has been the large number of grand pianos from famous manufacturers, taken in exchange, which is the best and most conclusive evidence that the Pianola Piano appeals to the most musical class of people, who appreciate the enjoyment made possible with this wonderful instrument.

The Pianola is inside the case part of the piano. It can be used or not at the will of the operator; ready for playing by means of the Pianola music roll or by a musician fingering the key board in the usual manner.

The Pianola is placed in four well known pianos—the Weber, the greatest piano in the world, the old reliable Stein, the Wheellook and the Stuyvesant—prices from $500 to $1000.

All of these pianos contain the wonderful Metrostyle—a device patented by the Aeolian Company, who manufacture the Pianola and Pianola Piano.

HOW FOUNDLINGS ARE TO HEAR ABOUT BEING CARED FOR HOTEL

Some Interesting Facts Are Given by A. J. Pillsbury—Finding Homes For the Little Ones.

A. J. Pillsbury, agent of Governor Pardoe writes as follows:

PROTESTANT PLACING OUT.

A Home Can Be Found For Every Homeless Child If Only Systematic Search Is Made.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 20, 1905.

The above is not quite a fair title for an article, but it is necessary to speak of nonsectarian placing out of children in family homes, for most of the so-called Protestant agencies for placing out minors are Catholic institutions, whereas the Catholic orphanage and other Catholic institutions for the care of dependent children either do their own work in finding homes, or contract with the Catholic agency. There is no friction between the two systems, and they sometimes cooperate, but the tendency is for each to do its own work in its own way.

Wherever I have been in the East and Middle West it is believed as fundamentally true that the best place for any dependent child is a home. It is in fact the best home for the child to be reared as an own child, and strong efforts are made to find such homes. Perhaps it would be nearer true to say that such efforts are made to find children. All applications already on file. The Children's Aid Society in Philadelphia has 7000 unfiled applications for children to be placed, and the Children's Aid Society in New York has had fifty-one years of experience in home-finding and only five per cent of the children placed in homes have turned out to be bad, and 50 per cent have to be replaced, and 15 per cent a second time, but a large part of the work of this Society is devoted to placing at wages children old enough to work, and the Society also has applications on file in excess of children to fit the places.

PLACING OUT EARLY.

There are many phases of this placing out problem, and many complications. I am sure that there is a general agreement that families should be held together as long as possible, that it should never be to place out, but that when placed out legally adopted into approved homes to be reared as own children there should be an effort to place the child in a family.

These homes are mainly found on farms, parents being married people, or with children, and partly because special effort is made for the child's physical advantage to find country homes for the child.

Contrary to popular opinion, there are many childless country homes scattered over the land. In some cases the parents are childless because they have given up and forsaken the best, leaving it disgraceful, though only about 15 per cent of the children placed are consigned to homes of this class. Children are also has been born to the wife, and in most cases they come to the house and in most cases they come to be loved as own children would have been had they been born.

CALIFORNIA EXPERIENCE.

In our California institutions it is admitted that it is comparatively easy to place attractive children up to 10 or 12 years old, but it is completed late, for children are old enough to work there is no market for them, and boys are at all times hard to place. Here in the East it is said that there are many such as may be defective or dead, and always they are first babies and are not born of careworn and overworked women. All unite in telling me that they are not often discarded, but that they come from the red-light districts.

THE NEW YORK FOUNDLING.

It is said that the Italian husband does not earn more than a dollar a day and will spend ninety cents of that for food and not for rent or board, and the wife, who has a good income, will spend all her time in the house, and boys are at all times hard to place. It is said that the Italian husband does not earn more than a dollar a day and will spend ninety cents of that for food and not for rent or board, and the wife, who has a good income, will spend all her time in the house, and boys are at all times hard to place. Here in the East it is said that there are many such as may be defective or dead, and always they are first babies and are not born of careworn and overworked women. All unite in telling me that they are not often discarded, but that they come from the red-light districts.

The Trouble With Football

—saying a good word for football President Wheeler makes a plea for clean sport. He desires to see football retained as a college game, but he wants its played in the true amateur spirit—played fairly and in honest accordance with established rules, by students who are in college for legitimate study, students who have matriculated to improve their minds and acquire useful learning.

Of course the man who is in college to play football chiefly or solely is not a real student. If he is hired to masquerade as a student in the 'varsity team he is a professional. If his deficiencies in scholarship are overlooked that he may assist in winning athletic victories for his college, the vital principle of amateur college sport is assailed. The essence of true college sport reposes in the ability of every contestant in athletic games to legitimately pass regular examinations. When faculties accept exploits on the football field as an equivalent for scholarship they degrade the scholastic standards of their respective institutions as well as genuine sport. They connive at a fraud which lowers the moral tone of the entire student body and exerts a vicious influence on the minds of the young.

The practice of winking at the hiring of players and classroom deficiencies extends itself to the condonation of moral delinquencies. It brutalizes football because its animus is the "anything to win spirit"—the spirit that prompts the gambler to play with marked cards and the horseman to bribe jockeys or "dope" horses. Many tricks of fouling can be practiced with comparative impunity in football. It is comparatively easy to disable a crack player in the mix-ups by cowardly and treacherous methods. The man hired to play is simply mercenary, and feels that he must make good, fairly or unfairly, to hold his job and earn his money. Being in reality a professional, he has his reputation to sustain, and he is restrained by none of the scruples which hold the genuine amateur back from doing anything dishonorable or violating the ethics of a gentleman's game. And the rules governing football in recent years have been framed largely in the interests of professionalism, and to fit the tactics of the unscrupulous player. Furthermore the striving to swell gate receipts, the elaborate system of coaching, the feeling on each side that the college colors are disgraced by defeat are all factors in reducing football from the plane of a healthy, manly, square contest on merit between teams made up of bona fide students to the level of mercenary professionalism, with its venal ambitions and its total disregard of the rules of fair play.

A gentle philosopher once remarked that the honor is not in winning the game, but in playing a poor hand well. He was speaking of whist, but the principle he enunciated applies aptly to college football. The honor is in the players doing the best they can fairly—like gentlemen, as college men should be. The true spirit was tersely stated by President Roosevelt in his address to the Yale students. "Hit the line hard, boys, but hit it fair." You can hit the line hard with hired players, but you can't hit it fair. Only by unfair means can a hired player be in the line-up. He is a jackdaw in borrowed plumes. He is there to win in any way that he can—that is what he is there for and that is what is brutalizing football and giving it a sordid and unwholesome character.

Along with President Wheeler, we hope to see football continue as a feature of student life, but if it is to be retained the devil of professionalism, with its attendant covert brutality, unfairness, and studied deception, must be cast out. It must be played by gentlemen in a gentlemanly way from gentlemanly motives. Its animating spirit must be generous rivalry, not the thugging desire to win that prompts giving an opposing player an elbow in the throat or a knee in the vitals to disable him. Of course, football is a rough game; that is one of its chief charms. It calls for pluck, endurance, a robust physique and rigorous training. Properly, it is a fair trial of strength, skill and endurance between young men engaged in study. It is robbed of every element which gives it glory and interest if mind be sacrificed to matter, if the student be eliminated to make place for the mercenary hireling equipped with brawn but deficient in brains.

The Los Angeles Times insists that Partridge was defeated because of his repudiation of the Citizens' Alliance. Are we to infer that the members of the Alliance voted for Schmitz? A lot of them did to a certainty, but we doubt if Partridge's attitude had anything to do with the way they voted.

The increase in the gold production of California would be more gratifying if it were not derived from the destruction of some of the fairest strips of fertile land skirting the rivers at the point of their debouchement from the foothills. Dredger mining sacrifices a source of permanent wealth for temporary gain by a process which leaves the region in which it is practiced poorer than it was before, and which creates unsightly wastes of rocks and sand where once stretched fertile and smiling areas of tilth and pasture. The towns in the foothills which now derive a passing benefit from this destructive process will in time suffer in business and population from the permanent injury dredger mining inflicts on agriculture and horticulture. But it is the old story of killing the goose that laid the golden egg, a fable that always carries its moral but never impresses its lesson.

Mayor Schmitz' Opportunities and Responsibilities

THE TRIBUNE'S special correspondent, who has demonstrated himself all along as being singularly well informed in regard to political matters across the bay, says Schmitz and Ruef are honestly resolved to give San Francisco the best administration that city has ever had, that they fully realize the responsibilities resting upon them, and that they are under searching examination from every part of the State.

In his published interviews Mayor Schmitz emphasizes his intention to give San Francisco a clean, efficient and economical government. To a Bulletin reporter he said, on his return from Los Angeles: "The voters of San Francisco have now given me a support that will make it possible for me to go ahead and administer the affairs of San Francisco untrammelled by the forces that have heretofore curtailed my power. San Francisco is the city of my birth, the city I love and for which I would use every effort for its good. I consider it one of the greatest honors for a man to be elected the chief magistrate of the city of his birth. Then I am a man with a family, with children growing up, who in coming years will be proud to look back upon a clean administration by their father. I can assure the citizens of San Francisco of an unbiased administration. Even my opponents are conceding this."

This sounds all right. Post election promises are far better than those made while campaigns are in progress. Every well-disposed person will feel an honest hope that the Mayor is sincere in his professions and will fulfill his promises in spirit and letter. So long as he strives to redeem the pledges he has voluntarily made since his re-election he is entitled to the cordial support of every good citizen. He is entitled to a juster judgment and a fairer treatment than has hitherto been accorded him by the San Francisco press, for in public office a man's motives and intentions must be judged by acts and results rather than political or personal bias.

Mayor Schmitz has a splendid opportunity before him. Every arm of the city government is under his control, he wields a power never before placed in the hands of a Mayor of San Francisco. But if his opportunities are large his responsibilities are equally great. He may not grasp the former, but he cannot shirk the latter. It is now up to him to make good, and to do him justice he talks like a man who intends to make good. No citizen who has the welfare of the city at heart will grudge him the honor he will receive in case he gives San Francisco the model administration he promises.

Mayor Schmitz has his work cut out for him, however. The streets are dirty and ill-kept, the police force rank with corruption and conditions in the tenderloin are disgusting and demoralizing. The several departments need reforming and brought into a state of efficiency. Let him do this, purge the police force, put the streets in good repair and suppress the vicious resorts and he will have a claim on public respect that will be honored on call.

The splendid telegraph service THE TRIBUNE receives from the Associated Press was strikingly exemplified last Saturday in the completeness of the account of the automobile accident in which Mrs. Burton Harrison lost her life. Not a detail of consequence was left for the morning papers to chronicle. The same is true of the mutiny at Sebastopol, the full details of which were spread before THE TRIBUNE'S readers before the day was done. We do not blame our contemporaries for piecing out, for their late editions, their meager and unsatisfactory reports with clippings from the Associated Press account printed earlier in these columns.

All the pictures in the illustrated journals reveal the animals exhibited at the New York horse show as having their tails cut very short. This abbreviation conveys the impression that the name of the show was also clipped.

Apparently the Traction-Consolidated has begun in earnest the reconstruction of its Oakland and Alameda lines. It affords us pleasure to be able to chronicle this fact. It is good news for the people of Alameda, and we congratulate them upon the fulfillment of their long-deferred hopes. THE TRIBUNE trusts that the Traction company will not delay longer than is absolutely necessary the reconstruction of the Haywards line, which is burdened with an increasingly heavy traffic as the roadbed and cars become more dilapidated. The wants of such a profitable and growing territory should not be neglected. We hope to chronicle at an early date that the work of reconstructing the Haywards line has begun.

A BIT OF LOCAL HISTORY.

In just about thirty days Christmas trees and all the things that attend them, such as toys and popcorn and mince pies and good cheer, will be the reigning topic. This is not to be a Christmas editorial. The holiday season is not quite here, but it is near enough to justify a little talk on a subject which directly concerns all of us.

A few years ago the people of Oakland were committed to the idea that they must go to San Francisco to do their buying. San Francisco had larger stores. The merchants of the metropolis advertised attractively. They hustled for business. The merchants of Oakland looked on while that procession of shoppers streamed by their doors and took the local trains bound for the city. They railed at the newspapers that printed San Francisco advertisements, ignoring the fact that the newspapers would rather print Oakland advertisements, but if a San Francisco firm realized the virtue of printer's ink and the Oakland firm did not, that was the latter's fault and the former's gain.

Then suddenly came a change. The Oakland men woke up. Just what the cause of the awakening was no one knows. The cause really does not matter. The important thing was that the business men of the City of Politicians came to realize that if they were going to have a share of the business they must go after it just as their brethren across the little pond were doing. Accordingly they began to use the local newspapers to tell the people what they had for sale. They made their stores attractive. They met the prices of their trans-bay competitors. The result was that in a little while the people of Oakland learned that they could save time, worry and money—this last is the greatest of all—by going down Broadway or Washington street and doing their buying. Since that time the business men of Oakland have had something else to do besides standing in their doorways and railing at the crowd bound for the Seventh street or narrow gauge local. The people of Oakland now, for the greatest part, buy at home, and the city thrives accordingly.—Reno Gazette.

MUNICIPAL ADVERTISING.

During the session of the League of California Municipalities in Chico last week some of the delegates took occasion to take a whack at the newspapers for what they said are exorbitant rates for municipal advertising. It was openly accused that there is a press monopoly and that the newspaper men get together and fix their rates at a high figure. Considerable time was taken up in the discussion, but one or two present advised care in dealing with the dispensers of public opinion and the matter was finally dropped by turning the subject over to a committee. Of course it is only natural that these gentlemen should find fault with the newspapers, but it is rather amusing to note that they all got a good distance from home and the editors of their home papers before they voiced their opinions.

Too many people are of the opinion that it does not require money to run a newspaper and that one can prosper on thanks in the same way as a newly married couple can live on love. The public is frequently forgetful of the fact that it requires a large amount of money to keep up a newspaper office. It is doubtful if there is any business which requires as large an outlay for the returns as that of publishing a newspaper. It is an investment in which every detail must be watched and guarded with the greatest care, for the cents quickly figure up into dollars.

As a matter of fact we do not know of any city in the State which pays an exorbitant rate for municipal advertising. The papers of any city want and demand only a fair compensation for their advertising space, and it is just as reasonable for a municipality to pay that rate as it is for any business house or corporation, for it is beyond dispute that the public of a city profits by such advertising. The mere fact that advertising rates differ in different cities is no criterion from which to judge, for few papers ask the same rates for their space.

Newspapers are not inclined to overcharge the public and we would suggest to the gentlemen who took part in the discussion in Chico that it would be well for them to make a careful investigation before they attempt to bring the newspapers to time.—Marysville Appeal.

THE MISSION OF UNCLE SAMUEL

My tailor doesn't dare to sell me shoddy any more,
My sugar comes all sandless from the little grocery store.
The bone that's in my sirloin—well, it never was so small,
The steak I get is edible—there is no waste at all;
The ice I buy is weighed for me by an Inspector man,
A Government official, and in short the entire plan
Of living has been changed, and so my note of joy I bring,
Since Uncle Sam has gone to supervising everything.

Oh, joy! I've sent my dairyman to thirty days in jail!

A Federal Inspector found some water in his pail!

A man who sold me butter with a taint of onions in

Will shortly be dispatched at the official guillotine,

The coal man—hardened sinner—knows that rumors now are ripe
He'll soon be in prison for the balance of his life,

And so I say, my turn has come—the bells of joy may ring.

Since Uncle Sam has gone to supervising everything.

My cook, who swore to quit me or to have a raise in pay,

I'll have in jail for blackmail ere the closing of the day.

My barber cut me yesterday—I'll have him up before

A Federal Inspector ere the passing day is over.

They've just returned life sentence at hard labor, so I hear,

Against the man who watered kerosene for me last year.

This is my time for shouting, for reform is on the wing,

Since Uncle Sam has gone to supervising everything.

A wicked joy steals o'er me as I pass before the bars

And see the prisoned makers of the cabbage-leaf cigars

On sale as pure Havana; and my life is like one song,

For when I go out buying an Inspector goes along.

I only have to turn to him and say:

"This cheese is stale."

Straightway the luckless grocer is paraded off to jail.

My life is worth the living, for reform is in full swing,

And Uncle Sam has gone to supervising everything.

A wicked joy steals o'er me as I pass before the bars

And see the prisoned makers of the cabbage-leaf cigars

On sale as pure Havana; and my life is like one song,

For when I go out buying an Inspector goes along.

I only have to turn to him and say:

"This cheese is stale."

Straightway the luckless grocer is paraded off to jail.

My life is worth the living, for reform is in full swing,

BY BETTY MARTIN.

It would be an utter impossibility to throw enough bouquets in the direction of either the Orpheus Club or the Hughes Club.

These two organizations have been the redemption of the city, musically speaking. Dozens of other musical clubs have been born and died since the inception of these two stalwarts who alone remain triumphant in a peculiarly fitting, though eminently discouraging field.

The story of the ups and downs of both would fill a book yet they have kept on, with a quiet persistency which has had its own reward. Certainly, the townspeople have done little or nothing to encourage the love of music in this community, though by some sort of hocus pocus Oakland, early in its existence, managed to get bruited abroad as a musical center.

As a matter of fact, concert performers are given a cold frost when their feet touch the sidewalks of this so-called Athens of the Pacific.

Oaklanders will have none of them. If any one of the many talented artists who have visited this Coast ever ventured to count on Oakland patronage, or appreciation, he has been sadly left. It is doubtful if ever one of them made enough money here to pay his way back to San Francisco.

The plain truth of the matter is that the people, as a whole, are not music lovers. They may think they are, and will possibly indignantly repudiate the assertion that they do not appreciate this most divine art. Nevertheless, the facts speak for themselves.

Oaklanders like to take their music to the accompaniments of brass bands, spangles and short-skirted or breech-clad fairies who bestow knowing winks to the old boys with failing eyesights who have secured seats close down to the footlights.

Frank Daniels can't sing a little bit. Yet when he came here with his "bevy"—I believe that's what they call them on the bill-board,—of stage beauties, the town turned out en masse, and howled its appreciation whenever the star swelled his toad-like proportions and hummed a ditty.

This week the Prince of Pilsen Company took the boards. If there's a single member of the company possessing a voice above the most deadly average, I'd like to know it. In a jiffy, the Orpheus Club could knock the singers of that Heidelberg chorus into a cocked hat.

The entire Prince of Pilsen Company appeared to take a fiendish delight in flatting whenever and wherever possible. But the theater was crowded on both nights of the performance, and those who could not get seats paid for standing room rather than not go at all.

Everybody concedes that this opera is one of the most charming of the latter day productions. It is a shame to have it murdered, and rather a commentary on the musical taste of the community that they should stand for it.

We of this coast have not yet attained a broad musical education. We are prone to run in grooves. Much of this may be laid to poor teaching.

There's a tremendous amount of money wasted in matters pertaining to a musical education. There are scores and scores of self-styled teachers who would better be sawing wood or washing dishes than engaged in ruining voices, and killing what natural love for music the pupils may have originally possessed.

The trouble is that there is no recognized standard which these people must attain before proclaiming themselves as teachers. One is not necessarily a musician because of an ability to strum a few airs on the piano—that much tortured and long-enduring instrument.

Too much attention is given the piano. There are hundreds and hundreds of people who never will be able to adapt themselves to its requirements. For one thing, no other instrument demands so much time to attain even a mediocre proficiency upon. Why not study some of the lesser instruments?

The harp, that long neglected and much sung thing of beauty, is again coming into favor, and it is declared that no harpist of ability need ever be at loss for the means to make more than a good livelihood.

The violin has long been accorded to artists, and is approached with fear and trembling by all the boldest. But there still remains the sweet-voiced guitar,—that love-maker of the Spanish,—the fascinating mandolin and the essentially American banjo.

It may not be generally known among American young folk, but in England just at present it is quite the proper thing to be able to play the mandolin. And the banjo! Was there ever anything more rollicking?

One can give quite as much pleasure, on occasion, with one of the smaller string instruments, as through the piano. For instance, on a picnic, or a moonlight excursion.

Who does not remember that description of Washington Irving's when from the window of the old Alhambra, in Spain, he inhaled the checkered sweetness of the garden, while from below came the "tinkling music of a guitar?"

* * *

Pre-eminent among all instruments, stands the human voice. And of all means to pleasure, this is the most sadly neglected.

Too little attention is given the singing voice. Every body should be able to sing, as well as to talk. True, even with cultivation, there will be scores upon scores of voices of very average ability, but what of that?

Consider the speaking tones of your friends and acquaintances, and then do not marvel.

The University of California, when it established a permanent chair of music, builded better than it knew. Already Stanford is following in its footsteps, cautiously, but none the less surely.

The two lecture courses to be given by Dr. Benjamin

C. Blodgett will surely result in some permanent arrangement for the students and the general public.

And right here it may not be amiss to quote the Reverend Frank De Witt Talmage, in connection with that discussion regarding the unfitness of the hymn "Lead, Kindly Light," to be sung in Christian churches. Says the doctor:

"I am the son of a clergyman and come from a long line of ministers, and I have been connected with church work all my life, and have been preaching the past fifteen years, but I had rather be the author of the hymn "Lead, Kindly Light," than of all the sermons I have ever prepared. That one hymn will sing more people into glory than a whole generation of ordinary ministers."

Toothpicks are no longer good form, spite of the declaration affirmative in "The Lady and the Laddie."

The University of Chicago has placed the ban on these tiny bits of wood, and hereafter they will be seen no more.

All this the direct edict of Miss Anna Yeomans, director of the Commons, the eating place. Quoting this lady:

"Toothpicks are crude implements, and the persons who use them are vulgar. Don't use them unless you have to, but for mercy sakes don't use them in public. All cultivated persons complete their toilets in their rooms."

The use or non-use of toothpicks has been a mooted question ever since their discovery. While useful articles, certainly they cannot be called beautiful.

It is not a very edifying process—that of picking one's teeth, and the misguided individual who swallows his face in his napkin during the process of using one, only serves to attract attention to himself.

Now that so distinguished an educational center has set the pace for America, the toothpick, as an inexpensive dining-room adjunct, will doubtless soon be a thing of the past, and fashionable society will as soon clean its finger nails as pick its teeth in public.

HAMILTON-SPRECKELS.

The marriage of Miss Grace Spreckels and Alexander Hamilton will be solemnized this evening at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. John D. Spreckels on Pacific Avenue. The wedding will be a quiet affair attended only by relatives and close friends.

HOME WEDDING.

Miss Ruth Clarke who has been entertained as a bride-elect during the last few weeks will pledge her vows with Frank Southback next Wednesday noon at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Clarke in San Francisco.

Rev. Frederick Clampett will read the service in the presence of a few intimate friends besides the families and from 2 to 6 a large reception will be held, several hundred cards having been issued.

The bride will be attended by Mrs. Elmore Leffingwell as matron of honor and by Miss Ada Clarke, as maid of honor. Mr. Southback will be served by Dr. Paul Castleman Master Jack Leffingwell holding the office of ring-bearer.

Mr. Southback who is prominently associated with the Southern Pacific Company will take his bride on a honeymoon trip through Southern California.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. George H. Lee of Fruitvale, entertained Friday afternoon at a pleasant card party given at her home. Great white and yellow chrysanthemums were used with good effect in decorating the rooms, where several games of five hundred were enjoyed by the guests. Mrs. J. E. Goody, a daughter of the hostess and Miss Eva Atwell assisted Mrs. Lee in entertaining, the other guests being Mrs. Nellie Nott, Mrs. J. B. Slaven, Mrs. S. H. Batsford, Mrs. M. M. Atwell, Mrs. H. L. Thomas, Mrs. John Shultz, Mrs. J. A. Dayton, Mrs. W. F. Lloyd, Mrs. M. W. Foote, Mrs. V. Wilson, Mrs. C. Batsford, Mrs. J. F. Goven and Irene Lloyd.

KITCHEN SHOWER

Mrs. J. F. Lilley entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Von Der Horst of Baltimore, whose engagement to Frank C. Martens was recently announced. The entertainment was in the form of a kitchen shower and the many articles sent were both appropriate and costly. A very clever pastime was arranged by Mrs. Lilley, a diversion from the general rule of cards. Two dozen kitchen towels were on hand stamped with the bride's initials and these were embroidered by the guests, each according to their fancy. A cook book was also on hand to receive a recipe from each lady present. After elaborate refreshments and a half hour of music, Mr. Martens called for his fiancee and they departed in Dr. Lilley's auto, filled with the kitchen articles, amidst showers of confetti.

Mr. Lilley was also the recipient of many beautiful flowers, it being his birthday. Among the guests were: Mesdames Landis, Fisher, Scholl, Alfs, Mau Conradi, Halsey Bredhoff, Sohn, Trotter, Stahl, Grahn, Laurenstein, De Lancey, Crist, Olmsted, Bilger, Lindsay Harms, the Misses Conradi, Proll, Arents, Schlundt, Benda, Yates, the guest of honor and the hostess.

FAREWELL DINNER.

Anna Strunsky, the brilliant young writer, who has been called to Geneva by a literary bureau there, was tendered a farewell dinner by the Ruskin Club Thursday evening at the Piedmont Club house. T. F. D. Gray presided. Several clever speeches were made by members, and the guest of honor also responded in her usual earnest and eloquent style to call for a few words.

Miss Rose Strunsky will accompany her sister to Europe.

The company consisted of Frederick L. Bamford, Mrs. Thomas Handley, James M. Smith, Harry L. Sully, Mrs. A. A. Denison, Miss Carrie A. Whelan, Conrad Thaler, Mrs. J. George Smith, David L. Lyon, Mrs. Gordon Wadsworth, A. A. Denison, Cameron H. King Jr., Mrs. Edna M. Van Duyne, Mrs. Harriet Stevens, W. V. Holloway, Mrs. Harry L. Sully, A. J. Meriv, Mrs. A. J. Hugill, Harry Sully Jr., J. George Smith, Mrs. David L. Lyon, Mrs. J. S. Kellogg.

INFORMAL TEA.

Mrs. L. L. Bromwell was hostess recently at a very informal tea given at her Madison street home. Only a dozen guests participated in the pleasant affair.

CHANGE PLANS.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Edger, who expected to spend their honeymoon in California and be "at home" to their friends after January 1, are planning to leave for the East instead, where they will spend months' leave of absence in traveling.

Later they will make their home at Fort Brown, Texas.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Miss Alice Treanor entertains today at a bridge party for Miss Emily Chickering and Miss Grace McJillis.

FOR A GUEST.

Miss Elsa Schilling has sent out cards for an informal at home, to be given Wednesday, November 28. The honored guest will be Miss King of Los Angeles who is visiting Miss Schilling, and only members of the younger set are included in the guest list.

WOMEN SIT

ON THE 'LID'

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Indianapolis says

Every woman who lives near a saloon in this city made it her business yesterday to assist the police in keeping the "lid" on. As a result seven arrests were made, one of them a grocer, for illegal sales of liquor. Before noon women had telephoned the police of five violations of the law, and in every case the saloon was found doing business on the sly.

Throughout the State there seems to be about the same vigilance as is exercised here, and all cities and towns report that the "lid" is on to a degree that has never before been known.

BRUTAL FOOTBALL AND
SUNDAY AUTOMOBILING

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Football

brutality and disregard of the Christian Sunday by owners and drivers of automobiles were themes touched upon by Rev. Dr. N. D. Hills in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, yesterday. His subject was "The Ten Commandments."

"Strange, passing strange," said Dr. Hills, "in this era of philanthropy and sympathy for the poor and weak, that men should have to re-read the words, 'Thou Shalt Not Kill.' Terrible, the need to remember the sanctity of life by reason of the killing of our young men in college, slain to make a Roman holiday."

"Yesterday morning the papers said that thirty-four young collegians had been killed in football thus far this autumn.

"Yesterday at 2 o'clock, the youth in Union College said to his companion, 'My father is here. He has never seen me play. I am going to play the game of my life.' Then, to put him out of business, six men fell upon him, and when the twilight fell the boy was dead, and a broken-hearted father was sobbing over his body.

The morning stories tell us that the Union College faculty decided not to tell the visiting team that the youth was dead lest the knowledge that they had killed him disturb the 'smoker.' But a little episode, like a collegian or two killed in these days, would not disturb in the slightest degree those who no longer play football as it should be played, or as scholars who hate unfairness and foul play.

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," said Dr. Hills.

"This nation has come to a great crisis. The most significant thing one notices on one's way to church is the automobile and what it stands for, wealth and power, stirring up anger and distrust, and hatred in the hearts of our working people. The men who own these cars are only traveling on what their fathers have done for them, and they are tearing down the institutions of this country."

WOMEN AND PASTORS ARE BARRED AT THIS FUNERAL

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 27.—Calling upon a brother attorney to officiate at his funeral services, J. Newton Shanafelt, one of the most prominent lawyers at the Delaware county bar, is known to have left a codicil to his will which prohibits the presence at his burial of either a minister or of any woman.

Shanafelt's will has not yet been made public, but these conditions are known to the family. In the same instrument he sets aside $25 for defraying the expenses of his funeral.

The lawyer died on Saturday evening at his home in West Seventh street, this city. He has for years been regarded as one of Chester's wealthiest citizens, and while eccentric in many respects, his curious final request has caused surprise among his friends.

The attorney who will read the burial service is O. B. Dickinson, also of Chester. The services will be held at the Shanafelt home tomorrow afternoon. Shanafelt's debarment of women from the funeral creates surprise, as he has never posed as a woman hater. Neither had he ever exhibited anti-feminist tendencies.

FALLING 5 STORIES

GIRL IS SAVED BY
PUDDLE OF WATER

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Six inches of water in a depression in the concrete pavement of the awesway of the apartment house at 1665 Park avenue yesterday saved the life of Lizzie Gibbons, eighteen years old. The water had accumulated after a washing of the pavement by the janitor.

Miss Gibbons had made a dish of dessert for dinner and set it on the fire escape to cool. She reached out to see if it was ready, and as she lifted the cover, the steam rushed into her face and she lost her balance, falling from the window. The apartment is on the fifth floor and tenants in the opposite building in One Hundred and Eighteenth street saw the girl fall, turn over and over after she struck the clothes line stretched across from house to house and finally fall flat on her back in the puddle.

Many women fainted at sight of the body descending, but before they recovered Miss Gibbons turned over in the water, rose to her elbow, then got on her feet, but immediately fainted.

SUPERINTENDENT LEACH EXAMINING INTO DEFALCATION OF SEATTLE ASSAY OFFICE.

COMPANIONS OF MRS. BURTON HARRISON STAY WITH HER HUSBAND.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 27.—Superintendent Leach of the San Francisco mint, in charge of the investigation of the affairs of the local assay office says evidence has been discovered to show that Cashier Adams' defalcations have extended back as far as 1903. An examination of Adams' property shows, too, that his assets will not reach the amount anticipated. The final muster of the assay office is confined to the County Jail, where he sits all day, gloomily, dejected, with his head in his hands. No claims have been filed by those who say they have sustained losses, but the government officials have received no notice that many such claims will be forwarded to the Treasury Department.

TO MAKE PUBLIC CAMPAIGN FUNDS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, D. C., says:

Probably the most tangible result of the insurance investigation will be a strong effort to pass some sort of corrupt practices act so as to require publicity for all expenditures and contributions for Federal elections throughout the country.

Within a few days Chairman Cortey of the Republican National Committee will have ready a complete list of all contributions made through him in the last national campaign. As a result of the revelations made in the New York investigation, the Postmaster-General, after consultation with the President, is preparing to show up his books, and he probably will go on record as favoring some sort of law or a political custom which will prevent reception of political contributions from corporations.

The President will take up the same matter in his message, and probably will urge such action by Congress as will put a stop to the unfairness of soliciting or accepting contributions from corporations without a direct vote of all stockholders.

THEY CELEBRATE LANDING OF JEWS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There were more celebrations yesterday of the two hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the landing of the Jews in America.

Rev. Dr. Joseph Krauskopf of Philadelphia delivered an address last night on "The Jewish Pilgrimage" before the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

"Blessed has been the lot of the Jew in the United States," said Dr.

Krauskopf, "and blessed has been the United States in blessing him. It is a marvelous story, that of the settling of the Jew in the western continent, and the more we read and study it, the stronger grows the belief that it was the hand of providence that opened for Columbus and for the Jews accompanying, the portals of the new world, to afford a resting place at last to the Tribe of the Wandering Foot and Weary Breast, and a haven to all others seeking shelter and peace."

Rev. Madison C. Peters of the Baptist Church of the Epiphany, delivered a lecture last evening on "What the Jews Have Done for America."

Dr. Peters pointed out that two Jewish merchants, Luis de Santangel and Gabriel Sanchez, supplied the funds for Columbus' expedition. Isabella did not sell her jewels to fit out Columbus, he said, for she had already pawned or sold them to defray the expenses of the wars then devastating her country. The scientific inventions of the Jews alone made possible Columbus' scientifically well planned voyages.

The first white man to set foot on American soil, Dr. Peters declared, was a Jew, Luis de Torres, the interpreter of the expedition.

PRESIDENT OF MUTUAL RESERVE INSURANCE COMPANY MAKES STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—President F. A. Burnham, of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company, issued a statement last night in reply to the testimony of James D. Wells, a former vice-president of the company before a Canadian Senate committee. Mr. Wells testified before the Canadian committee in 1904 that he had heard from Burnham that Louis F. Paine, when he was State Superintendent of Insurance in 1888, offered for $100,000 to allow the Mutual Reserve to write the report of an investigation which the State Insurance Department had made. Mr. Wells also testified that Mr. Burnham told him that he paid $40,000 for a manuscript copy of the report.

The statement, which bore a note saying that it was from George Burnham, counsel of the Mutual Reserve, is in part as follows:

"No money was ever demanded by or paid, directly or indirectly, to the superintendent or any persons connected with the New York Insurance Department for the purpose of influencing or accepting any report upon the Mutual Reserve. The story is the invention of one J. D. Wells, formerly a vice-president, whose services were dispensed with nearly seven years ago, and who has since spared no pains to attack the company and the present management in every possible particular.

The Canadian investigation was moved by a Senator who was a former agent of the company, which had cut off his advances.

"The Canadian committee, at its final session, voted to rise and report the evidence. Afterward, seven of the nineteen members got together and formulated what purported to be a report, which was expunged by the Senate. What is printed in a part of the Sunday journals as 'the finding of the committee,' is simply what one Senator, a member of the committee, gave notice he would move the adoption of as the proper conclusion to be drawn from the evidence.

"Another member of the committee gave similar notice, with one entirely different set of findings, but neither motion has ever been acted on. The statement that no action was taken by the Attorney-General of New York on the charges referred to as filed against management of the Mutual Reserve, is incorrect. They were investigated and dismissed by him."

The President will take up the same matter in his message, and probably will urge such action by Congress as will put a stop to the unfairness of soliciting or accepting contributions from corporations without a direct vote of all stockholders.

SAILORS OUT WEST TALK REVOLUTION

HONOLULU, Nov. 27.—There are some sensational reports here relative to revolutionary plans of the sailors of the Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena. Men from the vessel while ashore have made statements indicating rebellious intentions, and only fifty are allowed shore leave at a time.

The vessel is now coaling and will probably be ready to leave within a few days.

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY.

Do Not Try to Drive and Force It to Work When It Is Not Able Or You Will Suffer All the More.

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a balky horse; force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill-treatment before it "balks" but when it does you had better go slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomachs work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but you would do so when they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to do when it was well.

You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body take one of

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all you want when you want and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach; in fact, you will for get all about having a stomach, just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain on ly the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much-needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box.

They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine as of them. In fact physicians are prescribing them all over the land, and if your own doctor is not honest with you, he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stu-

BERKELEY HIGH WILL PLAY LOS ANGELES ELEVEN

BERKELEY, Nov. 27.—For the first time in the history of football in California, a game for the State scholastic championship will be played here, arrangements for a match on California field on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 30th, having just been made between the Berkeley High School eleven and the Los Angeles High School team. The Berkeley team, by defeating Lowell High School two weeks ago, is champion of Northern California and the Academic Athletic League. So strong is the Los Angeles eleven that it has terrified all the high schools in the south and has admitted the champion of that region.

The visit of the Los Angeles team to this section marks the first time that the school championship struggle has been fought in the past region, and especially interest is attached to the meeting on college territory of the two most formidable preparatory-school teams in the State. The match will be held at the Belmont School, which made a heavy line and light men in the back field. The two elevens will be almost of the same weight, the adventurous team of Los Angeles has a small but excellent record, for St. Vincent's College beat it 6-0 at the very commencement of the season. Belmont College was held down 14-0, and the Belmont School's formidable eleven was defeated in a spectacular game three weeks ago by the score of 14-0.

Berkeley High, while placing confidence in its line, composed of both veterans and new men, takes pride in its star back field. Peck, the buck, is probably the greatest player for that place in the league and has already been named as the man for an All-California preparatory school championship.

Both schools have caused similar crisis and mention to his position.

Merritt and Almy, the half-backs, are both remarkable ground-gainers, possessing weight and speed, and are the surest players. On this quiete Berkely depends for a victory next Thursday.

INDEPENDENTS DEFEATED BY HORNET SOCKERS

The Oakland Hornets Association Football Team, playing against the Independents at the Presidio Athletic grounds, furnished the first sensation of the "soccer" season yesterday when they defeated the Independents, leaders to date and twice champions, who, in their half-fought game, had scored two goals to one. During the first half honors were fairly even, the brilliant work of the Independent forwards being ably counteracted by the strong defense of the Hornets. In the second half, after a weary bit of work, the Independents shot home the first goal of the day. The Hornets, situated after the half, had been too severely hit by Duquesne to defend their goal, and the half-backs, Eliot and Von Helms, at backs, and the halfs were a tower of strength for the Hornet line. Christensen, the half-right, played a star role, and assisted by McLaughlin, the three Bay brothers of the Independent forward line, performed some of the prettiest play of the day in passing the ball deftly through a scattered field.

Antrobus, goal-keeper for the Independents, was guilty of a piece of singularly bad play, which escaped the eye of Warkentin, the team captain, who composed the following:

Hornets—Goal, McLaughlin; full-backs,

Elliott, Von Helms; half-backs; Chambless, Duncan, Bird; forwards; Christensen, McLaughlin, Mackenzie, Warburton, Duquesne.

Independents—Goal, Antrobus; backs, Husted, Milne; half-backs, Michaels, Beling; Evans; forwards, Jones, T. Fay, P. Fay, E. Fay, Higgins.

PLAY A DRAW GAME.

The Sacramento and Eags played a drawing game in the association football league yesterday. Cross, the leader of the strong redoubt, an absentee from injury, received a week ago, Richter, who defended the sticks for the day, had a comparatively easy time, the "S" being a half-mile behind the "Eags" line after they had secured their point from a breakaway. The shooting of the "Birds" was execrable and their failure in this department alone prevented them from securing full points.

The players—Eagles—Richter, Bennett, Bush, Shultz, Lancaster, Hender, Colley, Lee, D. Croll, Winklin, Dicks, Christensen, Thorpe, Gilchrist, McConaughay, McShane, Eales, Kennedy, Williams, Robitaille, Button, Turner and Bowden.

Referee—J. Cameron.

FORM NEW LODGE OF N. D. G. W.

WITH MEMBERSHIP OF THIRTY.
TWO NEW ORGANIZATION IS LAUNCHED.

POINT RICHMOND, Nov. 27.—The Native Sons and Daughters, and particularly the latter, were greatly in evidence in this city Saturday night, for it was the occasion of organizing Richmond Parlor No. 147, Native Daughters of the Golden West. Some thirty-two of our foremost ladies signed their names to the roster and the new organization starts its career under the most auspicious circumstances.

There were present to institute the new parlor, Past President, Mrs. D. K. Keith, Grand President, Mrs. W. Stone, Mrs. G. S. Frakes, Grand Secretary, Mrs. S. Frakes, Grand Treasurer, Sarah Sanborn, District Deputies, Lillian Riddle, Leah Wrede, May Barry, Hannah Berry, Agnes Troy and Mrs. D. Daniels, all of San Francisco, and Frances Purcell and Jennie Jordan of Oakland. Besides there were a large number of lay members of the order present whose names the newspaper representatives could not secure. These were from San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and other towns about the bay.

After the work of instituting the new parlor in Native Sons Hall was completed and the officers elected, the members of the new parlor and the grand officers, together with the Native Sons and out-of-town guests, adjourned to Fraternal Hall, where a public installation of officers and a banquet took place. The following is a partial list of the officers installed: Past president, Mrs. A. C. Lang; president, Mrs. R. H. Spilberg; first vice-president, Mrs. Julius Siefert; a second vice-president, Mabel Roth; secretary, Mrs. G. A. Dinnick; treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Bonnison; marshal, Miss Edie Rahn.

IDENTIFY REMAINS.

The body washed ashore at Point San Pablo Wednesday night has been identified as that of Theodore Johnson, the stevedore who had been missing for several days. The identification was made by a brother of the deceased living in Alameda. It is to this place the remains will be sent for burial.

Johnson was a native of Sweden and 41 years old. He was a married man and belonged to the Woodmen of the World, the policy issued to him by that order being made out in his wife's name.

The Woodmen camp of which the deceased was a member will have charge of the funeral.

Twilight Lodge No. 118, I. O. O. F., will give a musical and literary entertainment and dance at Maple Hall tomorrow evening, and they cordially invite all their friends to be present, promising them a very pleasant evening.

Those who heard Grand Sorbo W. H. Barnes of the Encampment, when he was here two years ago, will be pleased to learn that he is again to be with us. Mr. Barnes is a royal entertainer and the boys are planning to make the most of his visit and will put him through some of his choice stunts.

The admission to both the dance and entertainment is only 50 cents, and we can assure one and all that they will have a delightful time, so don't fail to be there.

LOCATE FACTORY.

A factory is being closed today whereby a pung factory to employ about fifty men comes to Richmond. It will be located on the Nystrom tract between the Santa Fe's old and new branch on 10th street. The deal would have been closed already but for the fact that one lot had been sold out of this area and a trade had to be made with the buyer before little could be made. For this reason names and further details are not given.

BRIEFLISTS.

The Richmond Land Company has signed its willingness to give a town lot to be raffled off for the benefit of the east side fire department.

C. W. Luckett, a former resident of this place but now living in Fresno, is in town to remain a few days on a visit to friends. Mr. Luckett expects to return to Richmond shortly and re-embark in business.

Miss Bell Johannsen and Leonard F. Poyer are to be married at the home of the bride in this city Sunday, December 10, according to announcements being sent to their friends.

W. A. Wilson and wife are up here from Kern, on a visit to friends and are staying at the home of A. S. Whitesides.

Conductor C. H. Cavan, who has been laying off for the past month on account of sickness, a good part of that time being confined to his bed, will go back on his run tomorrow.

POULTRY SHOW AT

FERRY BUILDING

The first State poultry show ever held in California under the combined management of all the poultry organizations of the State opened this morning in the Ferry postoffice building, San Francisco, foot of Market street. It is the largest exhibition of the kind ever attempted in the West, the exhibits coming from nearly every section of California, as well as from Oregon and Washington. There are over 2000 head of poultry, comprising nearly every known variety, besides some 1500 pigeons. Incubators will be hatching out chickens by the hundred all during the show, which is a very interesting and attractive sight, and will demonstrate to the public how chickens are hatched and raised on a large scale on poultry farms.

The exhibition is directly in charge of the California Poultry Association, the advisory board being made up of representatives of all the poultry associations in the State.

The most prominent professional poultry judges in the country have been engaged to place the awards at this exhibition, being Geo. D. Holder of Minneapolis, Minn.; T. E. Orr of Pittsburgh, Pa.; G. H. Burgett of Buffalo, N. Y., and Henry Barrer of San Jose, Calif.

DRUGGISTS MUST BE CHARY.

They Sell All Kinds of Hair Preparations, and Fear to Discriminate.

Druggists sell all kinds of hair preparations, and as a rule they are wise, chary of giving preference to any particular one, but many of them have come out plainly for Newbro's Herpicide, the new treatment that absolutely kills the disease of germs. H. Stratford & Son, Chicago, Illinois, says: "One customer of ours who did not have a hair on top of his head when he began to use Herpicide, now has a fair start towards a good head of hair. We believe Herpicide to be far the best preparation of its kind on the market." Hundreds of similar testimonials from everywhere. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to Newbro's Herpicide Company, Detroit, Michigan.

Mr. Burgett was superintendent of poultry at the Pan-American Exposition, and Mr. Orr was superintendent of poultry at the St. Louis Exposition, and such prominent judges are a great drawing card for exhibits at this exhibition, the building is packed with the choicest specimens of thoroughbred poultry in the country. There are individual birds worth from $100 to $500 each among those many of the World's Fair winners. The show will be open the entire week, November 27 to December 2, and as the railroad companies are making excursion rates there will no doubt be an enormous attendance all during the exhibition.

The officers of the California Poultry Association are: L. N. Cobbleck, president; W. S. Childs, vice-president; J. C. Williams, secretary-treasurer; Arthur Bailey, superintendent.

The California Poultry Committee is co-operating with the California Poultry Association to make this exhibition a great success and representative of the entire State, and of the poultry industry, which is rapidly coming to the attention of the public as of vast importance as one of our leading resources.

MAYOR MOTT TO LEAD GRAND MARCH

Many people are preparing for the yearly ball to be given by the Gaelic Dancing Club on Thanksgiving Eve in Maple Hall, Fourteenth and Webster streets. The dances given annually by this Irish society have always met with success. Not a detail of the arrangements is being neglected by those in charge and the entertainment this year will be the best ever attempted during the history of the organization.

Among the young women interested in the success of the social event are Miss Nellie McKinnon, Miss Della Brosnahan, Miss Mary Brosnahan, Miss Kate Egan, Miss Mary Egan, Miss H. Condon and Miss Mary O'Malley.

Mayor Frank J. Mott will lead the grand march, and the members of the San Francisco Gaelic Dancing Club will attend in a body. The following promises persons constitute the various committees in charge:

T. J. Desmond, James J. Peggan, William J. Nolan, Thomas Clifford, W. McGuire, P. Condon, T. Wyen, T. Egan, J. Coleman and M. Madden.

Joseph P. Kelleher, president of the Gaelic Dancing Club of San Francisco, will act as floor manager.

BAD AS BORROWING A PAPER.
A Duluth woman who has a horror of stony people believes that she recently became acquainted with the meanest one in the city.

"When she said, in relation to a friend, the incident upon which her belief is founded, 'she called at the house before breakfast and said:

"'What I have,' I replied. 'But surely you are not after the place?'

No answered the stranger, for I had never seen her before. I only live two blocks from here, and since we never cook myself I thought you might send me all the applicants you reject."

MYSTERY IS NOT SOLVED

Officers Have Not Been Able to Get at Facts.

The officers are unable to solve the mystery surrounding the finding of a headless body near the Southern Pacific tracks at Midway.

Only a few hours before the headless corpse was seen by railroad men on a passing freight train, a stranger was running amuck in the little village, attacking men with a maniac's ferocity. Armed with a big wooden bludgeon, the crazed man tore through the mud street, howling like a mad dervish. Several persons, among them A. Winter, who tried to check the wild actions of the stranger, were assaulted and with difficulty escaped serious injury at his hands.

At dusk the madman disappeared, after Deputy Coroners Edward Codd had lifted at Livermore the trainmen's lid and drove out to Midway to recover the body, where the corpse was identified as that of the same stranger who had raised so much disturbance during the afternoon.

The appearance of the corpse indicated that the man had been struck by a passing freight train, and the neck was broken. The man was a tall, thin, dark-skinned, dark-eyed, dark-haired, dark-mustached man, about 35 years of age, weighing 155 pounds, with short, curly hair, bald head, dark mustache. He wore a black cloth suit, only 5 cents, a pipe and tobacco were found in the garments.

SHE WILL GIVE A SONG RECITAL

MISS MARY ALVERTA MORSE TO BE HEARD TO MORROW.

A song recital will be given by Miss Mary Alverta Morse, a talented young lady of this city, at Reed Hall tomorrow evening. Miss Morse is a dramatic soprano and possesses a voice of fine quality. After her recital she will leave for New York, to accept a flattering position that was offered her by influential musical people who heard her sing at the Portland Fair.

Miss Morse returned some time ago from Chicago, where she was engaged in concert and drawing-room work, and since that time has occupied the position of solo soprano at the First Presbyterian Church in this city.

Her recital tomorrow night will be given under the patronage of the following well known society ladies of Oakland: Mrs. W. S. Goodfellow, Mrs. E. Nusbaum, Mrs. Will Angus, Mrs. Cooper, Miss Edel Moore, Mrs. E. G. Lukens, Miss V. De Primas, Mrs. John L. Howard, Mrs. Mollie M. Downing, Mrs. J. W. Peters, Mrs. Seth Cushman, Mrs. W. S. Palmer, Mrs. L. Bromwell, Mrs. H. A. Melvin, Mrs. G. Stolp, Mrs. Irving Lewis, Mrs. H. C. Capwell, Mrs. G. W. Fisher, Mrs. Marvin Chapman, Mrs. A. L. White, Mrs. R. Williams, Mrs. A. J. Johnston, Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, Mrs. Henry Abramson and Mrs. Sara Reamer.

Miss Morse will be assisted at the piano by Miss Ruth Cheever, and her program will consist of the following numbers:

"To the Voice of Love," "Elok; " "Cancioneta" (sixteenth century); "Salvator Rosa," "Verborgen Geheim," "Lachen und Weinen," Schubert; "Du Doppelganger," Schubert; "Allerseelen" Strauss; "Chamant Papillon" (sixteenth century); Camps; "L'Heure Exquise," Haller; "Unter Machtadern-hum," Haller; "Die Lorley," Liszt; "The Swan," Macdowell; "In the Woods," Macdowell; "Sunrise Cal" (traditional Zuni song), transcribed by Troyer; "Have You Got a Brood in Your Little Heart?" Dickinson; "Awakening," Mrs. Alexander in; "A Little Thief," Leo Stearns; "The Temple Girls," Woodford-Flinton; "O Dry Those Tears," Del Riego.

FRUIT GROWERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 27.—Active preparations are being made for the thirty-first annual convention of the Fruit Growers of California, which will meet in this city on Tuesday, December 1, and hold session for four days. Many important matters will be considered, including transportation, methods of packing, co-operative marketing and the control of insect pests. Reduced railroad and hotel rates will be granted to the delegates and arrangements have been made for their entertainment. In a circular issued by Elwood Cooper, State Commissioner of Horticulture, he invited all those interested to join in making the convention a success.

PLEADS GUILTY TO GIVING A BRIBE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 27.—Charles Mader of Chicago today pleaded guilty in the Municipal Court to giving a bribe of $1200 for a contract for roofing an addition to the County Hospital in 1901, and was fined $1000. Mader, at the time, was agent for a Chicago roofing firm. He was indicted by the Grand Jury two years ago.
